

Problem Solution

ESSAY EXAMPLE:

The internet has transformed the way information is shared and consumed, but it has also created problems that did not exist before.

What are the most serious problems associated with the internet and what solutions can you suggest?

Write at least 250 words.

You can use the same structure as the advantage/ disadvantage essay here – 3 problems and 3 solutions.

Follow this pattern:

Describe the situation. Say there are problems with this. Introduce what you will do in this essay.

Linker word, topic sentence – to say there are problems. Linker word, problem one. Explanation/ example. Linker word, problem two. Explanation/ example. Linker word, problem three. Explanation/ example.

Linker word, topic sentence – to say there are solutions. Linker word, solution one. Explanation/ example. Linker word, solution two. Explanation/ example. Linker word, solution three. Explanation/ example.

Linker word, summary to say there are problems. Opinion.

Plan:

Introduction

Problems

- 1 Cyber-bullying
- 2 Access to inappropriate content
- 3 Privacy

Solutions

- 1 Education
- 2 Parental controls
- 3 Software and laws for data protection

Our lives have been revolutionalised by the internet and the way we can share information with others around the world so easily. However, a number of problems have emerged as a result of this. This essay will discuss a few of the most significant problems and offer some possible solutions.

On the one hand, there are a number of issues that have been created through widespread use of the internet. One of the biggest issues is the way it is used by cyber-bullies. They post private or false information about people and verbally abuse them, which can have serious consequences, even suicide. In addition, children often have access to inappropriate content. This can result in young people committing crimes. Finally, another major problem is privacy. People's personal and even financial information can sometimes be shared, leading to theft and fraud.

Although there are serious problems connected to the internet, they are not without solutions. One solution could be to educate people about the correct and appropriate use of the internet. The education should focus on cyber-bullying and the drastic consequences it can have for the victims. Furthermore, parents should place restrictions on their children's use of the internet. They can prevent them from viewing certain sites and videos. Also, there should be software and laws in place to protect people's private data. People should know that they cannot simply steal people's online identity and data.

In conclusion, the internet can be a dangerous tool if it is not managed correctly. However, if it is used in the proper way it can be an incredible resource for everyone.

(267 words)