USE OF FUTURE PERFECT TENSE

We use the Future Perfect tense to talk about something that will occur before another action in the future. We can also use it to show that something will happen before a specific time in the future.

By next year, I will have received my diploma.

I am going to have finished my master program by next month.

By the time I finish the school, I will have learned two languages, English and German.

We also use the Future Perfect tense to express that something will continue until another certain action in the future.

By the time you read this, I will have left.

Will you have had your lunch when I arrive?

We will have finished our project by this time next month.

We often use the Future Perfect with 'by' or 'in' 'By' means 'not later than a particular time' and 'in' means 'within a period of time'. We don't know exactly when something will finish.

I think astronauts will have landed on Mars by the year 2050.

I'll have finished my homework in two hours and then you turn the TV on.

The parade will have ended by the time Chester gets out of bed. At eight o'clock I will have left.

😊 Ucar says: " Compare the difference in meaning : " 😊

-At eight o'clock Linda will leave. (This means that Linda will wait until 8 o'clock to leave.)

- At eight o'clock Linda will have left. (This means Linda will leave before 8 o'clock.)
